

Ensuring Academic Success

Recognizing that success in reading at an early age is one of the predictors of academic success, literacy in all areas is a major focus. Twenty-two percent of our students have been identified as requiring extra support in school in order to succeed. All are integrated into the regular classroom setting and extra resources or modifications are made to ensure that these students are able to succeed at school.

PPO

The Parent Participation Organization is very active in supporting the school's many programs and activities. Volunteers help with classroom activities, field trips and special events. With the strong support of parents, the PPO is able to defray the costs of field trips, social and cultural events and the purchase of technological equipment for all classes. Fundraising is an essential part of the school's success.
